“ Over 8 decades, 1 lustrum plus a handful of years my Aunt Mackie became my "Beloved Aunt Mackie". I muse in my heart where I can see her, in my mind's eye, walking down the rambling gravel road under a canopy of trees with the sun shining through on our way to the branch. She would see a wild flower, stop and cut it and attach that moment to a story from yesteryears. She was of pioneer stock, strong, resilient and good as in "nothing amiss". Yet, she was a woman of today, a classic, always saying jut the right thing and giving those who knew her a most wonderful and unique gift--a fresh draft of hope and by extension comfort just by letting your eyes rest upon her. She was and always will be my Aunt Mackie. I belonged to her and she belonged to me. We were truly family as all those blessed with a wonderful family can attest that life was better because we were together. Simply stated she was simply profound!

*Much loved, Honored and Admired

“ So many Sunday School stories she shared at Charity Christian Church. She remained an inspiration even into her 90s: strong, vital and caring.

“ Aunt Mackie and my Grandfather were siblings and remained very close until Grandpa passed away. They had a close bond and I remember seeing them together at my Aunt Juanita and Uncle Chuck’s 50th wedding anniversary party. They were head to head talking and giggling about some story, It reminded me of how brothers and sisters can stay so close because they have shared their whole lives together. At the time of the anniversary party Grandpa was in his early 90’s...and Aunt Mackie was in her 80’s...It make me smile whenever I think about them both....Aunt Mackie was a lovely Aunt and she will be missed....Lisa
