“ My brother was a simple man. He found peace by sitting in a boat waiting to catch the next monster catfish or in a tree stand searching for the next record breaking buck. He hated wearing a tie even though he looked very handsome when he did put one on. What you saw was what you got. Blue jeans, boots, plaid shirts, and a well worn camouflage cap was more his fashion statement. He loved his friends, family, country, and God. He lived for more time with his family and loved those two little boys with every fiber of his being. My kids and his kids grew up being loved by one of the very best people I have ever known. We were each better people for knowing him. I can't even begin to put into words how much I miss the man who made me a sister.
