“ I will miss Megan very much. She would always make me laugh, if nothing else...just from her laugh! I wish we had been able to keep in closer contact over the years but even though we didn't I think she knew I loved her unconditionally. Megan was a free spirit who lived her life as she chose and I always envied her because I've had to mostly do things by the book. It appears to me that the Lord needed another Angel and Megan was chosen. I know she is in Heaven looking down on her children, family and friends while spending her time with those who have already passed and she will be waiting for the day to welcome us home. May God comfort you all during this and help us keep her alive in our hearts and memories. Respectfully, Roxan
