Ursula touched many lives and had many friends throughout the world. She was the best “Grammie” to so many. She was always up for an adventure, you could count on her to answer the call for the Grammie Uber, late night trips to McDonald’s. cash app transactions and always needing a Scooters Blended Carmelicious with us. Ursula was so full of spunk and love. Grammie had a unique imagination, and you never knew what she would create or build out of nothing. One of her favorite quotes was, “Well behaved women seldom make history”. She touched so many hearts in her life. Once you knew her, she was forever your “Grammie”. She loved her family fiercely and we loved her back just the same. She was extremely proud of her family, and it showed. Her passing has left an enormous hole in our hearts, and she will forever be missed.
